Cutter Races To Save 40 on Disabled Ship

Battling through heavy seas and blinding snow, the coast guard cutter Cayuga was racing to the "graveyard of the North Atlantic" today to the aid of the crippled freighter Black Condor.

With 40 men and officers in dire peril aboard her, the distressed vessel was drifting helplessly 75 miles southeast of Sable Island, off the storm lashed Nova Scotia coast.

DISASTER—Map shows location of American freighter Black Condor, drifting in the "graveyard of the North Atlantic." Spot is 75 miles below Cape Sable.

IRISH BOMB PERILS CHAMBERLAIN'S SON

TRALEE, Eire, Jan. 19 (INS)—The life of Frank Chamberlain, son of British Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain, was endangered today by the explosion of a crude home-made bomb in what local authorities saw as a demonstration against the foreign policies of the British government.

Chamberlain was not injured by the violent blast, which shattered hundreds of windows in Hawney's private hotel where he is vacationing. The explosion took place at 3:30 a. m. behind the hotel in this southwestern Irish town just north of the Lakes of Killarney.

It tore a hole eight feet in diameter in a wall next to the hotel. Several persons in nearby houses were thrown out of bed and several walls and ceilings collapsed. In the hotel, however, there was comparatively little damage.

Chamberlain appeared to have been less affected than anyone else by the explosion. He and a friend, before leaving, told officials they did not know whether they had heard the blast.

Officials of the Tralee civil guard revealed that they had feared a demonstration against the British prime minister by Irish opponents of his policies through some sort of action against his son.

"The bombing," it was said by officials, "was seriously intended, and not in the nature of any prank demonstration. Three de-

The 5400-ton Black Condor lost her propeller as she neared the end of a run from Rotterdam to New York. Her veteran skipper, Captain Philip Prendergast of Harwick, Ct., radioed a call for help. He is well known along the Boston waterfront.

Reported only 80 miles away the Cayuga was expected to reach the side of the Black Condor late today.

HIGH SEAS RUNNING

The seas were high and the snowstorm that hit Boston earlier was blowing towards the area, messengers said.

The cutter was dispatched to the rescue of the Black Condor from the side of the Boston fishing trawler Hekla which had asked aid for its sick mate, George Harvey, ill of spinal ailment.

Harvey will be treated aboard the Cayuga until he can be transferred to a shore hospital.

SI RESCUED

At the same time the coast guard cutter Thetis was heading for Boston with the six-crew members and captain of the ill-fated four-masted schooner Laura Annie Barnes hopelessly foundered on a Nantucket shoal.

The schooner was abandoned, but the coast guard cutter Tahoe and the patrol boat General Greene were standing by to save what property they could.

Crew of the Laura Annie Barnes, once an American schooner, but now of British registry, includes three sons of Captain James L. Ppublicover—William, mate; Bruce, second mate, and Charles, the cook. The others are Fletcher Oxner, William Stevens and Arnold Adams. All make their homes in Nova Scotia.

tectives have been guarding Chamberlain night and day since he arrived in Tralee on Monday.

Police scoured the district for the perpetrators of the explosion. They found parts of a crude bomb similar to those discovered after several of the recent explosions in England, and continued their inquiry, working on the theory that the outrage might be the work of Irish republican army agitators.

20 Suspects Held

In British Bombings

LONDON, Jan. 19 (INS)—Police precautions to prevent further bombings, attributed to members of the outlawed Irish republican army, shifted to British shipyards, dockyards and ports today.

Twenty men, some identified as Irishmen, are held in connection with the series of bombings directed against electrical supply services in various parts of the British Isles.

CLARK GABLE

MRS. RIA GABLE

Wife to Give Clark Gable Divorce

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 19—That long-awaited divorce action by Mrs. Ria Gable against her actor husband, Clark Gable, by mutual agreement, was nearing reality today, it was revealed by Louella Parsons, International News Service motion picture editor.

Miss Parsons disclosed that attorneys for Mrs. Gable will make a definite announcement regarding her divorce plans by next Friday. Rumor was strong that Clark and Carol Lombard, actress with whom his name has been linked, would take immediate steps to arrange marriage when the law permits.

According to Miss Parsons, a complete financial settlement, satisfactory to both, was arrived at January 6 and Mrs. Gable is now prepared to cut her marital ties.

"I reiterate I never refused to divorce Mr. Gable and said I would gladly do so whenever he asked me," Mrs. Gable told Miss Parsons.

The actor's wife had originally planned to leave for London to join the Sam Woods (noted film director) but now she has decided to remain here. Mrs. Gable was quoted as saying:

"The divorce action will probably be filed in Houston, Tex., where Mrs. Gable's family still lives, Miss Parsons said.

Gable is reported to be negotiating for the purchase of the extensive Encino estate of Raoul Walsh, director, and it is believed he will make his permanent home there.

F. D. FOR TAX ON PAY NOW EXEMPT

By GEORGE DURNON,
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19 (INS)—President Roosevelt today called upon Congress to end tax exemptions on federal, state and municipal bonds and salaries. In a special message, he declared:

"A fair and effective progressive income tax and a huge perpetual reserve of tax-exempt bonds could not exist side-by-side. Those who earn their livelihood from government should bear the same tax burden as those who earn their livelihood in private employment."

The Chief Executive expressed the opinion that judicial decision alone might permit elimination of these immunities but he said clarifying legislation would be necessary to supplement these decisions.

CITES PORT PAY CASE

Mr. Roosevelt's message was immediately prompted by the Supreme Court decision in the port of New York authority case which held the salary of an employee of that agency was taxable by the federal government, as well as interest on its bonds.

He warned that unless Congress acted promptly the Secretary of the Treasury would be obliged under that decision to collect back taxes for at least three years on the employees of many state agencies and the security holders of many state corporate instrumentalities "who mistakenly but in good faith believed they were tax-exempt."

Mr. Roosevelt indicated he does not hold with the theory that a constitutional amendment is necessary to eliminate tax exemptions.

SAYS TAX JUST

"The tax immunities heretofore accorded to private income derived from government securities or government employment are not inescapable requirements of the Constitution," he said. "I repeat that it is not unreasonable

CAROLE LOMBARD

LaGuardia Flays Hub Taxi Critics

Boston critics of New York's way of handling its taxicab problem were verbally lambasted here today by New York's sharp-tongued Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia.

Told the reputation of his city had been assailed by witnesses at a taxi hearing at Faneuil Hall, LaGuardia said:

"I'm not here to take part in Boston's taxicab dispute.

"If the charge has been made that gangsters control our taxis in New York, that's unfounded and unjustified.

"But before I jump into any fight with critics of New York, I'll tell 'em what your great Boston prize ring champ, John L. Sullivan, once told a barroom challenger:

"Go get a reputation first!"

City Councillor Robert Gardiner Wilcox of Dorchester had invited Mayor LaGuardia to appear as a witness at today's continued Faneuil Hall tax hearing before the City Council's committee on public safety.

The declaration that gangsters were in charge of New York taxi stands was made by Frank Sawyer, president of the Checker Cab, who stated that mobsters sold stands, supposedly open to all, to the highest bidders.

Sawyer warned that a similar situation might develop in Boston if the council committee approved the referendum which the voters of the state passed at the November election.

The Checker Cab head told the committee that 31 of the city's 38 hotels had voted to exclude all cabs from in front of their establishments if their privileges in designating who was to occupy them were taken away.

JAMES STUART WHITE, JR.

Born in Stoneham Sanitarium With Two Teeth Yesterday

Baby's Teeth Win Him Fame

Every time James Stuart White, Jr., opened his mouth today at the New England Sanitarium in Stoneham he received lots of attention—it wasn't the racket he made, but his two large, fully-grown teeth.

The baby arrived yesterday and surprised hospital officials by discovering the teeth, a pair of lower incisors, were fully developed.

Young James weighs slightly more than six pounds six ounces, and is only a day old, but specialists said it looks as though a teething ring will be one of his earliest needs.

JAIL BRIDE-WIDOW TO WED JILTED MAN

Mrs. Bertha Ford Brushingham, 19, who became a bride last May in a jail wedding, and a widow in July when her husband was killed escaping from police, is going to marry a youth she once jilted, it was learned today.

He was left "waiting at the church" when she changed her mind and married James Brushingham while the latter was waiting trial for burglary.

The bridegroom-to-be Stephen Pelchowicz of Linden Park street, Roxbury, will now become the stepfather of Brushingham's son, born in October.

The marriage will take place January 29.

Mrs. Marion F. Brushingham of Dover street, mother of the dead youth, told of her daughter-in-law's plans for marriage.

"The boy she is going to marry now is the one she jilted to marry my Jimmie," the mother declared. "She had sent out wedding invitations, asking her friends to the wedding with Stanley—but then she married my son."

"Now she is turning back to Stephen. He is taking her, baby and all—the baby that is my son's child and who belongs right here in my home."

The younger Mrs. Brushingham replied to her mother-in-law:

"I'm sorry, but I can't stay single forever, and I love Steve Pelchowicz very much."

Pelchowicz and Bertha have been living for the past two months at the house of Bertha's mother, Mrs. William Ford, Thornton street, Roxbury.

Mrs. Ford said today:

"Bertha is beginning life anew, and wants to forget the past."

The bridegroom-to-be's mother was not very enthusiastic about the approaching ceremony. She said:

"I need Steve's help very much. We have eight other children."

"But even though I will miss his help, if he wants to marry Bertha it's all right with me. He's 24 years old."

Tragically entered Bertha's life when she married James Brushingham last May. Two months later, after escaping from Shirley School, he was trapped on a Dover street roof by police, and in attempting to get away jumped three stories to the ground. He was killed.

Admits Killing Baby; Husband Sent to Jail

HAVERHILL, N. H., Jan. 19—Guilty, by her own admission, of the "gossip murder" of an infant baby—her sixth—Mrs. Kathleen Stevens, 29, of Littleton, N. H., was under guard here today in the county jail hospital, awaiting arrival of another baby.

Mrs. Stevens pleaded guilty in Superior Court in Lebanon, N. H., to torturing and murdering the helpless infant which Littleton gossip said was the offspring of an illicit romance with a well-known resident of that town.

Her sentence, which may be life in state prison, was deferred until the child she is now expecting is born.

HUSBAND IS JAILED

Her husband, Fred, 36, who admitted helping bury the body after he returned home and found it lying on a pantry table, was sentenced to five to seven years in prison, as an accessory after the fact.

Mrs. Stevens' plea of guilty was to a specific charge of murder in the second degree. Mrs. Stevens went to Chief of Police Van H. Gardner of Littleton, hounded her baby to his grave, and herself and her husband to prison.

She admitted her romance with the Littleton man, Chief Gardner said, and admitted the dead child was not her husband's.

The husband charges the child now on the way is not his, either, but Mrs. Stevens insists it is. Meanwhile the "other man" denies everything.

TELLS OF NAGGING

He lives in Littleton with his wife and children, and evinces no interest whatever in Mrs. Stevens or the child that is to come. He appears on the best of terms with his family.

Mrs. Stevens, Chief Gardner said, told him:

"Fred nagged me so about the baby. He said it didn't look like him, and that it couldn't be his."

"Every day he nagged me. He said he didn't want to be supporting somebody else's brat. It drove me almost frantic."

"I thought perhaps if I neglected it it might die. I didn't give it

Children's Pet Elephant, Tony, Dies at Zoo

Waddy, the Franklin Park zoo's 75-year-old elephant, was all alone today.

His longtime companion, Tony, a mere elephant youngster of 35 or so, was dead. And Tony, for all she name, was a girl elephant.

Waddy, Tony and Molly were all purchased by the pennies of New England school children, way back in 1913. Molly died in 1921.

The boys and girls who bought the elephants for the zoo are men and women now.

But their sons and daughters, and thousands of other children, have made Tony and Waddy their special pets in recent years.

Tony was just reaching elephant maturity. The death today was a shock to Zoo Curator Dan Harkins.

Zoo caretakers found Tony lifeless when they came around with breakfast.

Waddy, almost blind now and increasingly feeble, stood sadly nearby, his big ears drooping, his trunk swinging dolefully and his little eyes closed, as if he didn't want to see his dead pal's body.

Zoo experts said it probably wouldn't be long before Waddy, Tony and Molly were together again, wherever good elephants go in the Hereafter.

3 HURT AT CHURCH FIRE

NEW YORK, Jan. 19 (INS)—Three persons were injured in a fire which destroyed St. Martin's chapel in Harlem today. Loss was estimated at $500,000.

ROMANCE? — Sailing for Europe on the liner Washington, screen star Gloria Swanson gave news hounds something to fret about when she received huge, heart-shaped box of candy. Romance? "No," she said. Her trip was purely business, she insisted.

Firemen Save Quincy Girl From Monoxide

Found a victim of carbon monoxide fumes which filled her bedroom, Miss Grace Cryan, 29, employed in a house in South street, Quincy, was given back her life by firemen today.

A Quincy fire department rescue squad, headed by Captain Thomas Gleason, worked over the young woman for an hour with an inhalator. They were almost ready to give up when she gasped.

At Quincy City Hospital she was expected to recover.

The accident was caused by a portable heater which used up the oxygen in the room while Miss Cryan slept.

When she failed to appear downstairs at her usual time, her employer, Mrs. Henrietta Dubie, sent the chauffeur to awaken her. He broke in the door and found her.

Dad 2d Time at 82; Son 'Doing Nicely'

DAYTON, O., Jan. 19 (AP)—Johnny Elmer Sanders, nine-pound son of Mrs. Gladys Sanders, 42, and George W. Sanders, 82, was reported "doing nicely" today.

The child is the second born to the couple. George, Jr., is four years old. Sanders is a retired soldier of the United States army.

Aiken Reveals $1,239,444 Vt. Budget Error

MONTPELIER, Vt., Jan. 19 (AP)—The Vermont Legislature today studied a special message from Governor George D. Aiken (R.) amending the biennial budget and revealing a mistake of $1,239,444—which transformed an estimated surplus of $653,212 for the next two fiscal years into a deficit of more than $586,000.

The message did not explain the error and was pounced upon by minority Democrats. Representative John A. Gordon (D.), mayor of Barre, asserted the budget was worthless, and added:

"If he (Aiken) had spent less time playing politics with the flood control and more time attending to the state's business, his budget surplus would not have suddenly disappeared and turned up as a deficit."

New figures disclosed budget totals for the biennium beginning July 1 of $26,012,702.78, the largest ever submitted by a Governor in Vermont's history.

CRUISER SAILS SECRETLY

SHANGHAI, Jan. 19 (AP)—The French Cruiser Primauguet, after sudden cancellation of invitations to a party on board, sailed last night for an undisclosed destination, but possibly to Saigon, French Indo China, or to Djibouti, French Somaliland.

Crash Kills Two Pittsfield Women

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 19 (AP)—Two Pittsfield, Mass., women were killed last night when their automobile left the highway east of here, tore down nine concrete guard rail posts and crashed into a tree.

State police identified the victims as Mrs. Frank Roche and Miss Bertha Cather, described as a waitress. Sergeant Grayford R. Smith and Trooper Joseph Sikora witnessed the crash.

Find Buffalo Bill's 'Lost' Piano in N. Y.

CHAFEE, N. Y., Jan. 19 (AP)—A concert piano believed to have been lost from the estate of William F. (Buffalo Bill) Cody has been found in this village.

Preston G. Rice, who owns the piano, quoted Mrs. Mary Jester Allen, niece of the famous frontiersman, as saying she believed the piano was given to Buffalo Bill while he was in England. He plans turning it over to the Buffalo Bill Memorial Association, Cody, Wyo.

LaGuardia in City On Whirlwind Visit

A whirlwind reception tour which taxed even his overflowing reserves of energy marked Boston welcome to Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia of New York today.

Whisked away at 50 miles an hour from the Eastern Steamship pier to the Copley Plaza Hotel, the stocky little visiting executive was rushed to the Parker House a few scant moments later.

There he shook hands with a jostling lineup of Boston and Massachusetts politicians, officeholders and would-be officeholders.

He found time, somehow, to tell press representatives he's 100 per cent behind President Roosevelt's plans for U. S. air strength expansion.

A World War flier himself, Mayor LaGuardia said he was convinced the Lindbergh report on Germany's present airplane fleet revealed a serious situation.

New York is working intensively to develop its possibilities as a commercial air port, he said.

WORRIED OVER "EATS"

He smilingly declared he's "not worrying" about 1940 politics.

"But I'm worried plenty about prospects of another snow storm," he said. "The one we had last week cost my city $800,000."

Asked if he would discuss political issues at today's Chamber of Commerce meeting, which he came here to address, Mayor LaGuardia said:

"That'll depend on what they give me to eat."

The visiting mayor indicated he would not take any part in, or inject his opinions into, the Boston dispute over licensing of taxicabs stands.

Opposing groups here had anticipated he might appear as a witness, describing New York's experience in regulating taxicabs.

Mayor Tobin's shiny new 12-cylinder automobile was waiting for Mayor LaGuardia at the pier when the guest of honor debarked from the Eastern Steamship liner St. John.

But the Tobin sedan wouldn't start.

Mayor LaGuardia and his retinue had to be shifted to a less imposing machine belonging to Acting Superintendent of Police John M. Anderson.

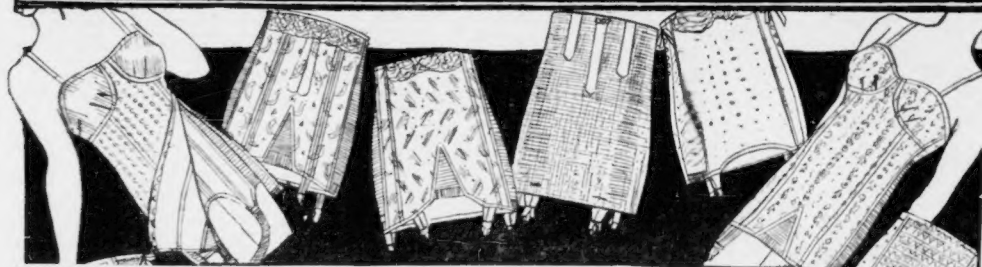

Juror Turns Sleuth: Mistrial

AUBURN, Me., Jan. 19 (AP)—Determined to see for himself if a defense alibi was correct, a juror did a little private investigating, with this result—a quick mistrial.

Charles C. Cushman, the juror, took his own automobile at court recess and drove as fast as he could from Auburn to Casco. He said he wanted to see if Reed Dyer, defendant in a robbery case, could have made as good time as he claimed.

Justice Edward P. Murphy in superior court didn't wait to hear the result. He declared a mistrial on the ground that Cushman's action was "overzealous, not willful misconduct," but nevertheless illegal.

BANDIT ADMITS SHOOTING

In a surprise confession, a Waltham man accused of a Boston taxicab robbery allegedly told police today how he shot a Wilmington druggist in the leg six weeks ago as the druggist battled him with a broom.

Victim of the shooting, unsolved until now, was William E. McLaughlin, 61, proprietor of a drug store in Main street, Wilmington. Today's "confession" was made, police said, by Francis J. Hope, 25, of Pleasant street, Waltham.

He was arrested, together with Bernard Lyman, 32, of Arsenal street, Watertown, after they had allegedly robbed John M. Dorsey, a Brookline taxi driver, of $3, fleeing in his cab.

CAUGHT IN CAB CHASE

Dorsey jumped out of the cab and fell almost in the path of a Boston police cruising car, which successfully pursued the fugitives.

Awaiting arraignment for the Dorsey robbery, Hope allegedly confessed the Wilmington shooting.

Police said he told Captain Joseph Bucigrass:

"There were four of us staged the drug store holdup in Wilmington. The other three guys took it on the lam to North Carolina and were grabbed down there for a later stickup.

"On the Wilmington job, two of our crowd stayed outside in a stolen car we were using. A third guy and I went into the store. We told McLaughlin it was a stickup.

HE KEPT FIGHTING

"He grabbed a broom and came at us, swinging. 'I fired one shot, aiming low. I guess it hit McLaughlin in the leg.

"But he was game. He hung to his broom and kept coming. We figured it was time to be getting out of there, so we beat it."

After obtaining Hope's alleged confession, Boston police notified Wilmington authorities. Meanwhile Hope and Lyman were held in $11,000 each after facing municipal court on robbery and larceny charges.

The shooting victim, McLaughlin, was reported recovering.

Mourning Pal, Boy Pens Note to God

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Jan. 19 (AP)—At the postoffice here last night a postal inspector opened a letter addressed:

"To God. In Heaven. Up in the Sky."

Written in a childlike hand, the letter read:

"Dear God: When I go upstairs, please let me see Floydie, Bobby." Signed up it dealt with the devotion of one little "pal" for an other.

Floyd, four, was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ferdinand Hightam, Minneapolis. He died a week ago. Bobby, six, his champion, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Neil Lewis, neighbors of the Hightams.

Floyd begged that his crossed eyes be cured so other children would not tease him. An operation was arranged but the boy died, health department records show, under anesthesia.

A pastor and his parents explained to Bobby that Floyd was "going to see God" and Bobby wrote and mailed the letter.

Geyser in Malden As Car Hits Hydrant

A geyser of water which spouted 65 feet into the air startled residents in the vicinity of Broadway, Malden, today after an alleged hit-run auto crashed a hydrant.

Police halted the machine at Broadway square, a mile away. The driver said he fell asleep and did not realize he had caused so much damage, police stated.

Panic on Liner In Storm, 6 Hurt

NEW YORK, Jan. 19 (AP)—Stories of hysteria and near panic among 360 passengers on the Italian liner Vulcania, struck by a furious storm which silenced its radio off the Azores on Tuesday, were told today when the ship reached port.

J. M. McClelland, publisher of the Longview, Wash., Daily News, said at least six passengers were injured and scores were bruised as the vessel wallowed in mountainous seas.

"The waves crashed over the top of the ship, breaking windows on the top deck," he said.

"The hurricane struck at the lunch hour, and all we could do was sprawl on the floor and try to hang on. The wind reached a velocity of 125 miles an hour.

"We never expected to live through it. There was general hysteria. Women fainted and screamed. Furniture crashed and flew around hitting people. Most of us got bruises."

"The storm came up suddenly and found the ship totally unprepared. Furniture crashed and flew around hitting people. Most of us got bruises."

Urges Tobin Veto Readville Dog Track Permit

State Senator Thomas M. Burke of Dorchester, in whose district is the site of the proposed Readville dog track, today appealed to Mayor Tobin to veto any permit for the track.

Senator Burke said that scores of residents of Readville and Hyde Park, through which traffic to the track would be routed, had protested against the project.

Mayor Tobin, reached at a breakfast given for Mayor LaGuardia of New York, commented: "I have nothing to say yet."

It was the first time the mayor had been out of his house in nine days, during which he has been ill with a cold.

After the breakfast he returned home to bed.

LOVE TRIANGLE GOES TO NORFOLK JURY

A strange Wellesley marital tangle today seemed headed for solution before a Norfolk County grand jury after Judge Clifford B. Sanborn heard charges lodged against a Boston club manager by an attractive wife and her architect husband.

Decision to place the matter before the grand jury was reached by Judge Sanborn after hearing testimony that the manager had kept weekly trysts with the woman for five years and that the "wedding ring" she wore was his and not her husband's.

RED HOT POKER FIGURES

The manager, Ervin Towns, 38, of Tilton, N. H., an official at the exclusive Union Club, was ordered held in $500 bonds after recital of evidence against him on a charge of assault and battery.

Complainants were Mr. and Mrs. William Lawrence of Audubon road, in an exclusive section of Wellesley Hills.

Mrs. Lawrence claimed Towns had struck her, knocking out a tooth, and that the pair then came home from an automobile ride to "thresh out the matter" before her husband.

According to the story told in court, Towns kept her husband sitting in a chair in the living room all night, while he kept handy a red hot poker, with which he allegedly threatened to brand them.

In his defense, Towns admitted planting Lawrence into a chair but stated he did so only to prevent further trouble in the home. He added that in the morning, both Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence waved goodbye to him just as if nothing had happened between them.

WHEN NERVE STRAIN BEGINS TO TELL...

LET UP— LIGHT UP A CAMEL!

CONCENTRATING OVER A DRAWING BOARD long hours on end puts plenty of strain on the nerves of Willard Mullin, famous newspaper cartoonist. "My nerves would feel as though they'd been put through the wringer," he says, "if I didn't break nerve tension frequently. My method is to let up and light up a Camel. Knocking off for a little rest and a Camel helps me work and think better."

Governor Fails To Drop Howard

It is up to the Legislature to disqualify Charles P. Howard, former chairman of the state commission on administration and finance, as an investigator of the public works department, Governor Saltonstall declared today.

Howard's appointment had been protested by Public Works Commissioner William F. Callahan, on the ground that Howard was "out to get" him.

Representative Albert E. Higelow of Brookline, house chairman of the ways and means committee, said after a conference with the governor:

"The governor told us he considered the man he had asked to serve on the commission well qualified to make a fair and impartial study of the department, but suggested that we see Mr. Howard and determine the matter for ourselves."

FAVOR FUNDS FOR PROBE

The ways and means committee reported favorably a bill providing the governor with $10,000 to investigate the public works committee, and $1000 to bring up to date a two-year-old survey of the public welfare department.

It appeared probable that the bill would be acted upon by the House tomorrow. There was little question that it would pass.

Of the six Democrats on the 20-man committee, one dissented, three reserved their rights, and two were absent.

Representative P. Gilbert Sullivan of Boston was the dissenter. Representative Albert E. Morris, of Everett, Democratic floor leader, was one of the absentees.

Howard was an unsuccessful candidate for the Republican nomination for lieutenant governor in the last state primary.

WOULD RESCIND DATES

Meanwhile, the three-man state racing commission, two members of which were appointed by Governor Saltonstall, asked Atty-Gen. Paul A. Dever if they could rescind racing dates awarded before the present Governor took office?

In the last day of the Hurley administration, George Moyse and Thomas Foley Hurley's appointees awarded dates to Suffolk Downs and a proposed Westport track, in spite of the Governor's demand that they postpone action.

After his inauguration, Gov. Saltonstall demanded and received the resignations of Moyse and Foley.

Capture Fugitive In Danvers

A fugitive since Thanksgiving from the County Farm at Danvers, N. H., Albert Thigeault, 40, was captured today when state and local police trapped him in a house in High street, Danvers.

Also occupying the house were a mother and two grown daughters. One of the daughters was questioned at length by the police. Thigeault said he was working at a woodpile at the farm when he and another prisoner decided to leave. They simply walked off into the woods, coming out at Barrett, N. H. Thigeault said the other fugitive, a lumberjack, is probably on his way to the west coast. He said he had been in New York state, coming to Danvers only three days ago. He had been serving a three months' term for a motor vehicle violation, and was returned to New Hampshire by state troopers.

Life Term Given Hero's Slayer

Pleading guilty to second degree murder, 35-year-old Raymond Scalia of Waltham was sentenced to life imprisonment today.

He shot to death his brother-in-law, Joseph Castrogiovanni, 46, a former Italian soldier who won a World War decoration for heroism in action.

Scalia, the father of seven children, appeared unmoved as sentence was pronounced by Judge Wilford D. Gray in Middlesex superior court.

The defendant's plea of guilty was offered after a conference between Judge Gray, District Attorney Robert F. Bradford and Defense Counsel William H. Lewis.

Castrogiovanni, who was married and lived in River street, Waltham, was slain on Dec. 11 after he and Scalia had allegedly quarreled at a card game.

Move to Curb Nursing Racket

Charging that a private registry "racket" in Massachusetts has victimized many girl and women nurses, a legislative report today urged stricter state supervision of nursing and employment agencies.

The report also recommended mandatory state registration of all nurses, both trained and "practical."

Certain private registries, unscrupulously operated, have charged nurses excessive fees, the report said.

In other instances, nurses without proper training have been supplied to families and institutions needing expert nursing personnel, the report charged.

Frankfurter Oath Jan. 30 In Open Court

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—Felix Frankfurter, Harvard professor who arrived with his wife, will take the oath of office as new associate justice of the United States Supreme Court on January 30 in open court, the White House announced today.

After their arrival, Frankfurter and his wife were White House guests and will attend the President's dinner to the Supreme Court and the judiciary tonight.

Radiantly happy and always close to the side of his reserved yet gracious wife, the Harvard professor and friend of the President, had chatted amiably with reporters and hosts of well-wishers who journeyed to the Back Bay station to see him off to Washington.

In Boston, Mrs. Frankfurter, the daughter of a Longmeadow Congregational minister, declared:

"People make their own lives wherever they are. Happiness is something that comes from within."

After he becomes a full-fledged member of the nation's highest tribunal, the noted Harvard law authority will, first of all, answer personally thousands of messages of congratulation which he has received from all parts of the world since his name was first sent in by President Roosevelt.

"It'll be a tremendous task," he stated, "but I'll stick at it until the last letter has been answered."

Hull's Son Fined In Auto Death

Robert J. Hull, 35, of Cleveland road, Wellesley, son of John C. Hull, former speaker of the House and head of the state Blue Sky division, was found not guilty today of manslaughter, drunken driving and drunkenness.

In a sealed verdict opened in Suffolk Superior Court by Judge Nelson F. Brown, the jury found him guilty, however, of careless driving. He was fined $100 on this charge. The jury deliberated five hours.

A car driven by Hull killed Frank East, 26, of Columbus avenue, Roxbury, near the latter's home last October 21.

Hull, a graduate of M. I. T., is assistant sales manager of an oil company.

Marvin McIntyre 'Nebraska Admiral'

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19 (INS).—There was a new naval man in the White House today—Marvin H. McIntyre, four-star "admiral of the Nebraska navy."

McIntyre, secretary to President Roosevelt, already a Kentucky colonel, was administered the oath in his office today by Representative Maas (R.), of Minnesota, a "fellow shipmate."

Capper Declares D. C. Under 'Dictatorship'

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19 (AP).—Senator Capper (R.) of Kansas told club women from over the nation today that the government is maintaining "an almost perfect example" of dictatorship by denying District of Columbia residents the right to vote.

Petting Costs Money

But, Then, Marrying's Free

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 19 (AP).—Petting in a picture show with his fiancée cost Milton E. Knapp $20.

But the judge who fined him promised to marry him next month—free of charge.

Young Knapp was convicted of battery against Mrs. Esther Steiner, manager of the theater, who said she was hit on the jaw when she protested the couple's necking.

"She hit my boy friend with a flashlight and I slapped her," testified pretty Alice Donnelly. They should have arrested me."

Winthrop Gets Post Bauer Quit

Frederic Winthrop of Hamilton had been named by Governor Saltonstall today to succeed Ralph S. Bauer as a trustee of Essex Agricultural College. Bauer, long mayor of Lynn, requested in a letter to the governor that he be not reappointed to the trusteeship in which he gave distinguished service over a period of many years.

2 'MOTHERS' OF SAME BOY LOSE FIGHT

NEWARK, N. J., Jan. 19 (AP)—Vice-Chancellor John O. Bigelow has settled a custody case in which two women claimed to be the mother of the same boy and a third woman sought to establish her right to the boy as an adopted child.

In his decision the vice-chancellor did not attempt to state who the real mother of Alfonso D'Angelo, 11, was, but he rejected a petition by Mrs. Gilda Cataldo of West Orange in which she sought to be declared the mother and gave custody of the boy to his foster mother, Mrs. Lena D'Angelo of Newark.

Mrs. Cataldo contended she gave birth to Alfonso on January 17, 1928, in Paterson. She said she became blind in August of that year and turned the boy over to Mrs. D'Angelo along with another son, Mrs. Cataldo said Mrs. D'Angelo was rooming with her at the time.

Mrs. D'Angelo testified that Mrs. Cataldo brought the baby to her, saying she found it in one of the rooms of the boarding house with a note asking to have someone take care of the boy.

Mrs. D'Angelo said she found the real mother, Mrs. Genevieve Traynor, and gained adoption of the baby.

FOSTER MOTHER, Mrs. Lena De Angelo was awarded custody of Eugene De Angelo by Newark court. They are shown together above. Mrs. Gilda Cataldo, right, real mother of boy, has only one year to live, doctors say, and she wanted boy with her for that year.

Calls Cambridge Probe 'Fizzle'

Unless concrete evidence is forthcoming, the probe of alleged $30,000 fraud in Cambridge, welfare payments should be dropped, President Thomas M. McNamara of the Cambridge City Council declared today.

"As far as I am concerned the whole thing is a fizzle," he said. "I will confer with the 14 other members of the council and see how they feel. If they want the investigation to continue, it will be continued."

Mayor John W. Lyons, who initiated the probe after receiving reports from private investigation had only this comment to make: "I will discuss the case in the near future when my plans are complete."

to hope that judicial decision would permit the elimination of these immunities.

"It is obvious, however, that these inequities cannot be satisfactorily corrected by judicial decisions alone. Without legislation to supplement them, many individuals and corporations will be subjected to tax liabilities for income received in past years which they mistakenly, but in good faith, believed to be tax exempt."

"In the interest of equity and justice immediate legislation is required to prevent recent judicial decisions from operating in such a retroactive fashion as to impose tax liability on these innocent employees and investors for salaries heretofore earned, or on income derived from securities heretofore issued."

The administration already has started its drive on Capitol Hill for such legislation. Undersecretary of the Treasury John W. Hanes appeared yesterday before a special Senate committee

75,000 In State Hit

If U. S. Taxes Salaries

If Congress acts favorably on President Roosevelt's proposal to end tax exemptions on federal, state and municipal bonds and salaries, more than 75,000 tax-exempt Massachusetts employees of counties, cities, towns and state would be required to pay income tax based on their salaries.

At present there are more than 22,000 tax-exempt state employees. Boston employs an additional 18,500 persons who pay no income tax, while there are some 35,000 others employed throughout other cities, towns and counties in the state who experience no annual worries over federal income tax.

In the matter of federal, state and municipal bonds, Massachusetts is one of the leading states of the country in total holdings that are now tax-exempt.

Almost 24,000 school teachers throughout the state would be included in the proposed cancellation of tax exemptions. There are more than 26,000 school teachers employed in the state and some 90 per cent of them receive $1500 and more as their annual salaries.

Churches to Aid In Community Fund Campaign

A letter from Cardinal O'Connell, urging generosity in Greater Boston's 1939 Community Fund campaign from January 23 to February 7, will be read at all masses next Sunday by priests of the diocese.

The letter states, in part:

"I most sincerely and heartily endorse this great community undertaking which each year helps over 100 hospitals, health and social agencies to carry on their work."

"Among the beneficiaries of this campaign are the Catholic Charitable Bureau and the Society of St. Vincent de Paul whose work we all recognize as so valuable and, indeed, vital."

Charles Francis Adams, president of the Community Federation, will make an appeal for the campaign at the Sunday morning service of the Arlington Street Church. Stuart C. Rand, general chairman of the Community Fund, will speak in behalf of the fund at the morning service at St. Paul's Cathedral.

In his regular Sunday morning broadcast from Tremont Temple, Rev. C. Gordon Brown will deliver a similar message.

Rev. Michael J. Ahern, S. J., will urge support of the campaign during the Catholic Question Box Period which he conducts every Sunday at 1 p. m., over radio Station WNAC.

REVOLT OF WORKERS REVEALED IN RUSSIA

By CHARLES A. SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Jan. 19 (INS)—Behind the high walls of Bolshevik censorship and but little known to the world at large, an upheaval of regimented labor is taking place in Soviet Russia today.

The full impact of its growth as a new industrial threat is felt in the heart of Soviet Russia and in the eyes of the world.

Deputies arriving across the border from the darkly lit, new Russia, and all of this danger is being taken by the Soviet government to put down what would appear to be a new revolution.

There may all be stage-acted, although the controlled Soviet press itself has admitted that the Russian labor movement is facing a new danger.

And may be staged as an organized fact in the future. The workers of the U. S. S. R. are not automatically hostile to the new regime, but they are not so sure that the new regime is not a danger to their lives.

From Riga, Warsaw, Berlin and other cities have come a stream of reports painting a dismal picture of working conditions in Stalin's Russia.

The following received in Paris is a typical example.

"The Moscow courts sentenced five offending workers in terms of imprisonment ranging from three to five years. They were convicted of assaulting the directors of their factory, who had dis-

Would Halt War Sales to Japan

NEW YORK, Jan. 19 (AP)—Legislation to halt the sale of American arms to Japan was introduced today by the newly organized American Committee for the Stoppage of Japanese Armaments.

The committee, headed by Henry D. Thoreau, a former member of the House of Representatives, and Dr. H. H. Henshaw, a prominent physician, is a non-partisan organization.

Guam 'Threat' Worries Japan

TOKYO, Jan. 19 (AP)—Japan's anxiety over the situation in the Pacific is being intensified by the news that the United States is planning to build a new air base on Guam.

The fortification of Guam would be like placing a gun against the gate of a neighbor, said the spokesman, Rear-Admiral Shozochiro Kanazawa.

Establishment of bases at Midway and Wake would be a serious threat to Japan's security, he said.

The Japanese government is studying the situation with great interest, he said.

Rush More Troops To Hold Catalonia

HENDAYE, France, Jan. 19 (AP)—Catalonian militiamen fought off insurgent thrusts in the mountains west of Barcelona today while the government sought to run a naval blockade to rush reinforcements from the idle Madrid front.

Twenty thousand Madrid troops, the first contingent of which was geographically isolated, government hoped to shift to the beleaguered Catalonia front, were reported at ready at sea.

They were said to be rushing to the French border, where they were to be shipped to the Spanish coast by the French government.

An underground movement of insurgents was reported to have been organized in the mountains of Catalonia, and to have been ordered to interrupt the transport of reinforcements to the front. Insurgent and government forces have been about evenly matched with about 30,000 men each. The insurgents, however, had a decided advantage in power of artillery and other equipment.

Late government statements said strong resistance was being met in the mountains.

Frankenstein Horror Hit Held At Memorial

With Boris Karloff, Bela Lugosi, Paul Robeson and Lionel Atwill the screen's foremost "harpooners" portraying their personalities with a realism that has fascinated Boston theatergoers, "Son of Frankenstein" has attracted vast crowds to the Keith Memorial, where the management is holding this attraction over for a second week, beginning today. Being held over for a second week as well as Charlie Ruggles starring in the hilarious comedy, "His Exciting Night."

"Son of Frankenstein" is the third of a triumvirate of screen thrillers that have swept across the country since 1931. The others were "Frankenstein" and "Bride of Frankenstein." Dread heritage of the Frankensteins, a man-made monster of inhuman temperament and proportion, returns to cut another ghastly swath across the screen in "Son of Frankenstein."

Brasil Ithoone has the title role as a scientist who takes up the work snapped short by his father's death 25 years before, and brings back to a life of human devastation the monster who made fiend creep in the original production of "Frankenstein" and its successor, "Bride of Frankenstein." Boris Karloff recreates the monster role, and Bela Lugosi of "Dracula" fame assumes the harrowing role of Ygor, broken-necked, mad shepherd cut down from the gallows. Lionel Atwill, Josephine Hutchinson, Emma Durne, Donnie Dunagan and Edgar Norton have other leading roles.

Directed and produced by Rowland V. Lee from the original screenplay by Willis Cooper, "Son of Frankenstein" has set a new high in hair-raising film fare.

"His Exciting Night" presents Charlie Ruggles as a bridegroom, matched from the church and placed in an embarrassing predicament with a gorgeous blonde. With Ruggles are seen "Slapsee" Maxie Rosenbloom, Marion Martin, Oona Munson, Stepin Fetchak, Benny Baker, Georgia Caine, Frances Robinson, Raymond Parker, Regis Toomey and Richard Lane.

Viola Roache Loves Boston

The higher real estate of New folk England Boston has a planted English in Virginia affections. Mrs. Roache who returns to Boston on January 30 in "What Every Woman Wants" a new comedy starring Francis Larrimore and opening at the Wilbur Theater, declares:

"I love Boston. I love the air, the streets, the atmosphere and the people. Especially I like the broiled squid in Boston. It is a unique dish, tasting different and cooked different than in any other city in the world. Whenever I arrive in Boston I remind myself to eat broiled squid at least five times a week."

In Boston Mike Roache endeared himself to a large audience during her four years in repertoire at the Copley with Henry Jewett, and kept three years in stock at the St. James Theatre.

Her theater experiences began her career in England in 1908.

"More, Our Figures Are Safe"

A POPULAR PURGE

"THIS TALK of spending ourselves into prosperity is another brand of an old and impossible doctrine that says you can 'drink yourself sober,'" truthfully says Massachusetts Congressman Charles L. Gifford, voicing the opinion of millions.

Congressman Gifford concedes that WPA jobs are necessary; argues that the deserving unemployed ought not to be abandoned.

But he registers violent objection to "CAREER POSITIONS" in the nation's relief program and points out that every dollar POLITICALLY SPENT is a dollar taken from the needy in defiance of the people and the Congress itself.

This contention is supported by the findings of the United States Senate Shepard Committee, which charges that the WPA has been flagrantly operated as a VAST POLITICAL MACHINE using PUBLIC MONEY for PARTISAN purposes on a scale never before even attempted in our entire national history.

Surely the time for action has come. Too long has the entire country been shocked by these intolerable conditions. Too long has the taxpayer's conscience been shamed by them.

As Congressman Gifford wisely advises, LET CONGRESS VOTE NOW TO SAFEGUARD RELIEF ADMINISTRATION AGAINST THE CORRUPTING AND WASTEFUL HAND OF THE POLITICAL SPOILSMAN, SO THAT ALL THE MONEY APPROPRIATED FOR RELIEF WILL GO TO THE REALLY JOBLESS MEN AND WOMEN FOR WHOM IT WAS INTENDED.

FLOOD CONTROL

will be a reality in New England. Such is the hopeful belief in Washington, where observers predict an early compromise in the controversy between Vermont and the War Department.

This entire case looks forward anxiously to an IMMEDIATE and SATISFACTORY settlement. Already too much time has been wasted.

But four years' governments State and National, have done nothing to solve the problem without accomplishing anything. Even the municipalities fail to make those in authority realize that it is wiser to provide PERMANENT relief than to spend millions of dollars repeatedly for the rehabilitation of devastated areas.

It would be deplorable if a continuation of the deadlock exposed the valley communities to floods for another four years.

THE FLAG SALUTE

receives new and deserved prominence in the news. In Fitchburg, the WPA-job-holding father of a 14-year-old son who refuses to participate in the alleged compulsory salute risks possible deportation to Greece.

In Albany, N. Y. the Empire State's Court of Appeals upheld the compulsory salute, decreeing that "SALUTING THE FLAG IS NO MORE AN ACT OF WORSHIP OR A SPECIES OF IDOLATRY, NOR DOES IT CONSTITUTE ANY APPROACH TO A 'RELIGIOUS' OBSERVANCE."

Washington and the sound and FUNDAMENTAL Americanism of the flag salute and to ALL fathers of salute-defying children.

New Star Climbs
Fistic Horizon

By EDWIN C. HILL

Copyright 1939 King Features

THEIR'S a most typical American tale centering on Billy Conn, the curly-haired lad who took the decision from Fred Apostoli, midweight champion, to south on apes since Conn lived in East Liberty, Pa.

His father is a bricklayer from County Down, Ireland. He apprenticed young Billy to the bricklaying trade. The boy was doing well. He is devoted to his parents.

But his old man's for his years, he had shown skill in impromptu neighborhood mulling and in gymnasium workouts.

One day he told his father he knew he could fight and he had made up his mind to become a boxer.

HIS PARENTS were troubled. Conn never did regard mauling as a likely trade. He attempted to talk young Billy out of his fighting urge but finally gave it up and the young man was taken in hand by John Hays, old-time lightweight boxer of Pittsburgh, once a great state fighter and an excellent trainer.

That was about four years ago. In that period, the boy had grown from a lightweight to 167½, too heavy for the middleweight division, but, at 21, still growing and unquestionably in line for some important heavyweight clouting. But first he must move on through the light-heavy division, with a crack at the championship left vacant by John Henry Lewis.

"The Lad Who Knew What He Wanted"

The boy appears to be a second Jimmy Slattery, with his loose, flailing, two-handed style, and he can take punishment and come back fighting. Such shrewd and seasoned critics of boxing talents as Hymie Kaplan, Solly Krieger's manager, are saying that here is another bright star just fudging over the edge of the fistic horizon.

Young Billy Conn's dad, the skeptical and puzzled bricklayer of several years ago was on of the wilder of the wild-eyed Pittsburgh rooters the other night.

Incidentally, this Pittsburgh crowd handed the New York "wise boys" quite a shakedown. With the odds 16 to 5 on Apostoli before the start of the fight, the lad from Smoky Town grabbed all offers. And young Billy Conn's take was around $4500.

One thing that interested me was that Billy is a home boy, never out after 10 o'clock at night. So this is really a simple story of good fortune for the little house by the road.

More power to this lad who knew what he wanted, breadloaf for his daddy and a coach and four for his mother.

The Brighter Side

Trainers' Sons Follow Papas

By DAMON RUNYON

WE RECENTLY saw a young fellow whose face seemed familiar saddling a race horse in the paddock at Hialeah, town in Dade County, Florida, and inspection of our program indicated that he must be Trainer S. R. Shapoff. The trainers nearly always saddle a horse for a race.

This identification served to remind us once again that trainers' sons, indeed, for we could remember seeing Trainer S. R. Shapoff in short pants clinging to his mamma's hand in a street in Louisville, Ky., where the Shapoffs come from. She called him Skippy. So did his male parent, Moe Shapoff, also a trainer of horses.

Young Shapoff is only one of a large number of sons of trainers who are following in Papa's path.

WE CAN name a score of father-son combinations in the big-time racing game. There must be many others. It is quite understandable why a youngster who has been brought up around horses should want to adopt the profession in which his father has achieved success. There is not only a great fascination in the racing game itself, but good trainers make money and with racing spreading out the way it is in the United States, the opportunities for young trainers are greater than ever before.

The names of Healy and Healey are famous in the annals of horse racing in this country. This matter of the letter "E" takes a lot of straightening out. James Healy trained for years for Mrs. Ambrose Clark, retiring about a year ago at the age of four-score. His son, "Big Jim," trains for Jack Whinnery and has long been accounted one of the best in the land.

Then there was Simon Healy, a grand old trainer, whose son Paul trained for awhile but later went in for a different branch of the racing game. These Healey are not related to the Jim Healey and the son who the "E" are also a different tribe. Tom Healy helped make a lot of racing history as a trainer and his son Jack now carries on the name.

The Hirschs are another celebrated family of trainers. They begin with Max Hirsch, who has trained some of the great race horses of turf history and is still quite active, his charges including those of the King ranch, of Texas. His daughter, Mary, was the first woman to get a trainer's license in New York State. His son, Dudley, is a mighty competent young trainer.

Ben Jones, who trains Herb Woolf's Missouri string, including the Kentucky Derby winner, Lawrin, has a son, Ben, Jr., in the training game and so has Tom Smith who trains the mighty Seabiscuit for Charley Howard, of Sam Farnsworth. John R. Ward's son, Edward, trains for Walter M. Jenkins, and another son, Sherill, trains for his own father.

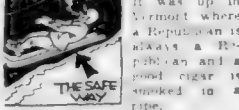

"BENNY JIM" FITZSIMMONS, one of the great trainers, who handled the great horses of William Woodburn, also had a son, including Gabriel, Rex and Omaha, and a daughter, who has two sons, Harvey and Jimmy, training horses.

Then we find son of Cary Winfree, R. Robertson, Andy Blackely, Ted Horning, Kenny Ramsey and George O'Brien, all celebrated trainers, pursuing the profession of their fathers.

It is like any other profession. It can be good, bad and indifferent, but one thing about it, horse training keeps you out in the air.

'Bugs' Baer Says:

WE WENT skiing last week when the temperature was having a pitiless battle with the thermometer. Zero was all that counted.

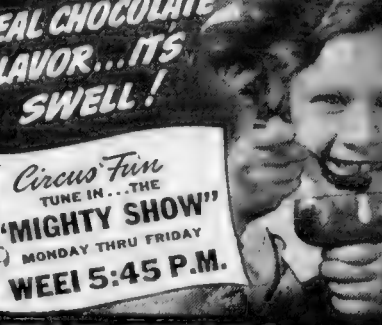

THE SKI TRAIN leaves Grand Central Station by request. It proceeds north by uneasy slages with skis sticking out of every window like somebody was rowing a boat.

YOU HAVE the seas on your back when climbing the hills. When you come down you put the skis on your feet. But you haven't gone a couple of frapped yards before you realize that the skis should still be on your back. For that is where you are.

SKI-JUMPING is the Norwegian idea of relieving traffic congestion by reducing transportation to its simplest ingredients. Americans slide down banisters and balustrades when they are young, but a Norwegian never gets over the habit.

OF COURSE you can't blame Americans for not being champions on skis. It took many years for our Finnish and Scandinavian neighbors to come to the conclusion that hot skis were better.

AND WE STILL find it hard to get our feet and our bodies used to a couple of fence rails and go slithering across the country like a wolf dragged by a trap. There's one thing to remember about ski-jumping. It's a sport we will win it yet.

Baby's Weight Important

By ALLAN ROY DAFOE, M. D.
Personal Physician to the Dionne Quintuplets

There are still a few important observations about which I want to make before I pass from the subject.

A child of average weight at birth about 7 1/2 when about 12 pounds when he is one month, 16 pounds at six months, 18 pounds at nine months. When an average child shed a five month's skin he has about doubled his body weight. At 12 months he has nearly tripled it.

On the other hand, one cannot afford to judge a baby's health merely on his weight. I have known children who gained normally in weight, but who were retarded in strength and development.

FEEDING, WEIGHT LINKED
Hand in hand with the weight of a child goes feeding.

If your child is being teased, it's best if you haven't much to worry about.

Sometimes however feelings have to be prepared.

To do this scientifically, a means has been evolved when a called a caloric Calorie suffi-
the test the energy to keep th and living and to give strength to his body in its development. The normal infant requires 50 of these calories per day for every pound of weight.

THE SEASON

The principles are therefore hidden, they were not weaker than normal and they could more easily be given their strength. So when they are two weeks old they were being given 10 drops each

We knew that the Maine was Teddy Salant, former court jester to Eddie Lewis when the New York restaurant man was a Boston millionaire, has written another song, "I'm in Love With You" . . . As is the case with all Salant songs, he published the new one himself . . .

Seth Arnold, who has been cast in an important role in "Kate's Mischief," (Wilbur, January, 20) is a graduate of Boston Latin School, class of 1900. He got his first theatrical job three months after graduation, as a "super" in "Que Vadis" at the famous old Castle Theatre.

John Spalding Herrick, featured singer with the famous "Revelers" quartet, is the John Herrick, native of South Boston, who won his first recognition as a church soloist in Boston. . . . Al Kova's orchestra is playing at the Vanity Fair. . . . Estelle Ray and Jean Rudolph are dividing the singing chores at the uptown club. The Stock Club, 510 York, idea of extending bellows to the left is now at the bellows continuing taking more a look to be a new record set in 1911 by the Brown Dock. The bellows are now fast into the rooming and post may reach to them. The tree of many from which I am using at the costume at the table is longer than the put at 1100.

Pencils with lighters on one end have been popular since Christmas, but a new number in the pencil novelty line has a roll of writing paper in the barrel. . . . Ruhen Badenhorst, the decorative designer (architect and bon vivant) has an idea for a song and a new night club. . . . He designed half the nightspots in Boston. . . . Ann Lester the Mayfair's featured singer, is planning a cocktail party for the hy-liners. Monday

Wallace Riddell is heir-presumptive to the hallowed post of commander of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company, the column bears

GILL AND RAYMOND SETTLE TRACK SUPREMACY

B. C., B. U. Greats Meet in Prout 600

By MURRAY KRAMER

That long discussed and moot question as to the superiority of Dick Gill former B. C. leader and Doug Raymond, ex-B. U. captain, over the 600-yard distance will be settled a week from Saturday night when these boys clash in the famed Prout Memorial 600 at the Garden.

Mungo Must Change to Get Raise

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 19 (AP)—If Van Mungo will stick to fireball pitching and drop his fire eating, the Dodgers will offer him a faster contract than the $5000 the pitcher termed an "insult," his manager declared.

And Leo (Lippy) Durocher, the manager, would like to have Mungo back—but he's got to change his attitude.

"If Mungo would just tell Mac Phail vice-president Larry Mac Phail that he knows he has been a bad boy, that he's going to quit that stuff this year and behave, Mac Phail would snap him up in a minute," Durocher asserted in a luncheon club talk.

"But if he doesn't, Mac Phail doesn't want him," Durocher warned.

The former Cardinal who replaced Burleigh Grimes at the heaving helm of the Brooklyn, thinks his club profited greatly by winter trades.

He's especially proud of Right Fielder Gene Moore and Pitcher Ira Hutchinson, obtained from Boston.

Durocher, with three potential successors on the job with him—Charley Dressen and Bill Killefer as coaches and Tony Lazzeri as replacement second baseman—has no illusions about job security.

"I've got to have capable men on the bench who will keep their minds on the ball game while I'm playing shortstop," he explained.

"If I win with the club, they won't get my job. If I lose, I'll be fired anyway, so what's the difference?"

It seems odd that they never met over this distance before. In the past, either one or the other would be injured or slighted and not invited to the special events.

But now the time as come and both boys have plenty of backers. Until last winter anybody who dared say that Raymond was as good if not better than Gill would have been greeted with a stare as chilly as a cheer leader at a golf match.

RECORDS OFF RECORD

Last winter changed all that though. Raymond was not invited to the Prout games because it was felt that he was not fast enough and then there were certain officials a bit pink in the cheeks when Doug almost ran Jimmy Herbert into the boards two weeks later.

In that race, Raymond was just a shade over 1:12 which was the fastest time ever made over 600 yards indoors by any New England athlete. Doug followed that up with a 1:12 performance in New York to stamp him with the nation's leaders.

If Raymond is anywhere near the form he reached last winter, he should be able to take Gill but just what Doug will do without the eagle eye of Win Marling on him is the question.

TAKES ON WEIGHT

Raymond, however, is now teaching physical education in Providence and has put on ten pounds. He is working out daily at the Brown University track and keeping in touch with Win Marling by mail. If Doug follows instructions all will be well—but, deep down, Marling is a bit worried that "happy go lucky" Doug may be taking things easy.

With Gill it is quite a different story. The lean, powerful redhead is taking graduate work at Boston College and is still being guided personally by Jack Ryder. According to Jack, Gill is now down to 1:13 and with another week to hit his peak, the sorrell topped tier figures to be a real threat.

200-Mile Cycle Race for Daytona Beach

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., Jan. 19 (AP)—The competitions committee race for 1940 to Daytona Beach, the American Motorcycle Assn. The race was set for February 22.

Final Tryouts In Belt Tourney

After a layoff of one week, during which time they assisted the N. E. A. A. U. in staging the State Championships, the Irish-American A. A. will be back in circulation at the Arena next Monday night when they offer the fourth and final tryout tourney of the 1939 Diamond Belt Championships.

There will be battling in ten classes—eight divisions from flyweight to heavyweight, for the open fighters and two groups of novices at 125 and 160 pounds.

The winners of Monday night's bouts will qualify with the victors in the other tryouts for the grand finale of the Diamond Belt Championships, which will be held at the Arena on January 30.

In addition to winning a title on January 30, the battlers will also be given first consideration in the selection of a Boston team for the big boxing extravaganza the "Irish" are planning to stage in the Boston Garden on February 5.

FRANKHOUSE, MORAN SIGN

Two more ballplayers joined the growing list of contented Bees when Bob Quinn today received the signed contracts of Freddie Frankhouse and Al Moran.

Browns Angling for Hurlers

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 19 (INS)—In the hope of strengthening their pitching staff, the St. Louis Browns are negotiating for two pitchers, William O. Dewitt, general manager of the club, revealed today.

Back from New York where he and Donald L. Barnes, president of the club, attended the funeral of Col. Jacob Ruppert, Dewitt said the transaction, if it ma-terializes, may involve three clubs.

He declined to identify the pitchers he is seeking or the club or clubs with which the Browns are negotiating.

"If it does not materialize," Dewitt said, "I'll be sorry, as I believe such a deal would help us where we need strength most, on the pitching mound."

Farr Bout for Galento If He Gets Past Brescia

NEWARK, N. J., Jan. 19 (INS)—Tony Galento, squat, rotund, baldish contradiction to everything you've heard about the body beautiful among heavyweight gladiators, stands today within a few left hooks of a return to New York's pugilistic big time, and the betting odds were running for him at the rate of 2 to 1 and better.

Jorge Brescia is expected to succumb sooner or later in Newark's ancient armory tonight.

A sweet boxer and still sweeter puncher with his right hand where he is in the mood to fight, Brescia hasn't been getting anywhere to speak of since the night a couple of years ago when Joe Louis landed on his chops, and if the thing is played strictly to script he will be stiffened again before this evening's performance has gone its scheduled 10 rounds.

Thus would Galento clinch above the now almost inaudible dispute of New York's promoter Mike Jacobs a fight at Madison Square Garden on March 10, with Tommy Farr tentatively set to furnish the opposition to the best of his limited ability after his five straight previous defeats in the country.

An impressive win there would put Galento in with Louis for the heavyweight championship of the world.

I hope I've given you a rough idea of what one of Galento's left hooks can and will do in Galento's behalf this evening.

I'm reasonably certain he will connect. If he doesn't land solidly, and a few say he won't then he probably will get his ears knocked off, and his conquest abruptly will be ended.

Patty Berg Nears Augusta Golf Title

AUGUSTA, Ga., Jan. 19 (AP)—Patty Berg of Minneapolis entered the final 18-hole round of the Augusta titlist's golf tournament today with a six-stroke lead over her nearest rival.

The national champion and defending title-holder carded rounds of 43-49 for an 83 and a 54-hole total of 238. Dorothy Kirby of Atlanta was in second place with a 245 total.

Jockey Corbett Injured in Fall

SANTA ANITA PARK, Cal., Jan. 19 (INS)—Jockey Charley Corbett, one of the top-notch riders of the American turf, was taken to St. Luke's Hospital in Altadena suffering from a concussion after a bad spill during the running of the second race at Santa Anita.

Apparently caught in a speed jam on the far turn, Corbett was aboard Temperament. The latter stumbled and Liberty's Love slammed into him. Corbett used all his riding skill to stay in the saddle, but Temperament's bridle came off and Corbett was heavily thrown to the ground, landing on his head and hands.

The boy lay unconscious for several moments, then sat up and waited for the ambulance to pick him up.

McSpaden Trails Cooper on Coast

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Jan. 19 (INS)—Clipping six strokes from par to break his own course record, Harry Cooper of Chicago today led a field of 120 into the second round of the $5000 match play San Francisco golf open.

Cooper smashed out rounds of 32-33-65, in lowering his mark of 89 made in the first tournament held nine years ago.

Behind Cooper came Harold "Jug" McSpaden of Winchester, Mass.; Ben Hogan, White Plains, N. Y.; and Dick Metz of Chicago, all with 89s.

"ROBBED," YELLED BABE. The first day the New York Yankees came to town, after the screen had been erected, Ruth slashed two vicious drives against it.

HE RANTED AND REGALED THE patrons with gestures to indicate his displeasure of being "robbed" of home runs. It "robbed" him of many more before his career was over.

Now that the Babe is gone, Bill de Witt, vice-president of the Browns, opined today that perhaps the screen was hurting his team's sluggers more than it did visiting home-run hitters.

Do members of the Browns hit the screen more or fewer times than do the hitters of other teams? De Witt didn't know the answer to that question, but he said he intended to find out, if possible by checking past records and if not by keeping statistics on the 1939 season.

BROWNS MAY REMOVE 'BABE RUTH' SCREEN

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 19 (AP)—Stretched in front of the right-field pavilion at Sportsman's Park is a screen that stands as a reminder of the Babe Ruth era—and now it may come down.

The barrier was erected about a dozen years ago during the heyday of the mighty Bambino, who used to pop home runs into the pavilion like raindrops on a tin roof.

THE SCREEN COVERS THE pavilion from the top of the wall to the roof and reaches from the right field line to deep center.

BATTERS WHO HIT THE WIRE get as many bases as they can, the ball being in play after it comes off.

"ROBBED," YELLED BABE. The first day the New York Yankees came to town, after the screen had been erected, Ruth slashed two vicious drives against it.

HE RANTED AND REGALED THE patrons with gestures to indicate his displeasure of being "robbed" of home runs. It "robbed" him of many more before his career was over.

Now that the Babe is gone, Bill de Witt, vice-president of the Browns, opined today that perhaps the screen was hurting his team's sluggers more than it did visiting home-run hitters.

Do members of the Browns hit the screen more or fewer times than do the hitters of other teams? De Witt didn't know the answer to that question, but he said he intended to find out, if possible by checking past records and if not by keeping statistics on the 1939 season.

REDSDIDIT. If the Browns' home run output would be accelerated without helping other teams too much, De Witt said he would have the screen removed.

Such an action has a precedent set last season by the Cincinnati Reds, who moved home plate twenty feet nearer center field during an alteration of Crosley field.

As a result, the Reds' home runs increased from 3 in 1937 to 30 in 1938 and had an important part in the team's pennant-contending position.

Enemy teams jumped their home runs from 15 to 31 as a result of the change, a difference of 16 as compared with the Reds' increase of 37.

Charlestown Quint Takes on Liths

The Charlestown Indians basketball team will meet the Lithuanian American Citizens quintet of Cambridge, Monday night at the Clarence Edwards Memorial gymnasium, Walker street, Charlestown.

The Cantab club has been undefeated in nine starts this year and is made up of many local college stars, among whom are Chet Gladchuck and Vito Ananis of Boston College.

Freisinger Leads In Olympic Trials

OCONOMOWOC, Wis., Jan. 19 (AP)—Leo Freisinger of Chicago outskated a field of 42 contestants in the first heat of the 500 meter event at the United States Olympic trials.

Freisinger, a member of the 1936 Olympic team, raced around the sticky Fowler Lake course in 44.3 seconds. A light snow hampered the skaters and kept away all but a slim crowd of spectators and officials.

Green Sets Date For Record Try

HANOVER, N. H., Jan. 19 (AP)—Harry Hillman, Dartmouth track coach, set March 15 as the date for the world indoor record breaking attempts that Don Lash and Johnny Woodruff will make against the two-mile and half-mile marks on the Indians' lightning fast board track.

Hillman said that Woodruff's coach, Carl Olson of the University of Pittsburgh, had requested that the Negro speedster be timed at the 800-yard mark as well as for the half-mile. A year ago, Glenn Cunningham ran his 4:04.4 mile, the fastest ever traveled by man, on the Dartmouth track.

MR. BOSTON

Suffolk to Ask
New Racing Days Wonderland Dogs Win at Miami

By JACK CONWAY.

NOW THAT Harold Pierce and Harold R. Allen have been confirmed as members of the Racing Commission and Charles F. Connors remains as chairman of that body, it is expected that Suffolk Downs will move for reconsideration of its application for racing dates.

When George Moyses and Thomas R. Foley were on the Racing Commission, they voted to give Suffolk Downs 42 days of racing, and Westport 35 days of racing.

Suffolk Downs naturally rates more days of racing. It is New England's largest racing plant, and plans to spend $600,000 for stakes this year. As the State receives 3½ per cent of the mutual take, it should be interested in seeing that its greatest source of racing revenue is treated fairly.

Great Barrington is also in the field asking for 30 days of racing. Dan Gurnett and other people who were interested in Agawam are carrying the banner of Great Barrington, and they contend that up-State fans are also entitled to consideration in the matter of racing dates. Last year Agawam Park had 33 days of racing. Agawam Park was closed to racing by the vote of the people of Hampden County at the last State election.

Dog track dates will also come before the Racing Commission. Wonderland Park and Dighton will seek dates, while the New Bedford track will also ask for a share of the dog dates in the event it is successful in securing the necessary licenses.

Wonderland Dog Wins at Miami

GEORGE HUESTIS of Wonderland Park is taking the sun at Miami, Fla. George writes as follows from the 'Magic City':

Dear Mr. Boston:

Down here in this neck of the woods where they never heard of a pair of mittens and new hotels pop up on the horizon as fast as Lucius Beebe changes his dinner clothes, there's a lot which reminds a guy of his home town, Boston.

Was sitting hip-deep on a lounge at the Miami Biltmore talking about horses and greyhounds with several racing commissioners, who recently were in annual session at that glorious spot. So many of them inquired about Charley Connors, Bay State's well-known commission chairman.

It was evident that they missed him here this year. As a gesture of respect one of the Western delegates suggested a "vacant chair" ceremony for Charles H. Seems they all like him lots.

A Southon gentleman commission said out loud:

"Charles Connors she is a fine man and perhaps acquired more racing knowledge in the short span of a few years than any of us here at the convention. He just seems alive with ideas for the improvement and betterment of the entire racing system. Naturally we miss him this year."

There were other highly complimentary remarks which would have puffed out the commission chairman's chest if he had heard them.

Dog Racing Hot in Miami

AS USUAL this town is wild about the dogs. The four tracks . . . Miami Beach, West Flagler, Biscayne, and Hollywood . . . are all playing to capacity houses. My conscience insists that I tell you the Wonderland favorites of last Summer are way out front in the spotlight and showing their tails to the local puppies.

Art-Wilson's Court Critic, a feature performer at Revere only a few months back, is at the top of roster of champs at the Miami Beach track. Since they raised the curtain for the winter season, he has won five out of seven starts, which gives you an idea how well Wilson trains 'em. This week he'll be in with a new youngster called Pinky Higgins who looks as fast on the peat as his namesake does around third base. So in spite of that Red Sox trade we might still have a Pinky Higgins in Boston this summer.

Wonderland is well represented at all the big tracks. Bill Fineran who gets 'em together at Biscayne as he does at Revere, races our popular Whang, Cab Driver, Allsteel, Papperitz, Fawn Tip, Garry Bridge, Just Pepper, and Royal Matron in the feature events at 115th street.

Like Laddie, Duke of Tulsa, and Shaun Mor, are Revere delegates in the big races at Hollywood; and Dick Malone, Kansas City, My Home Boy, Speed Malone, and Boston Laddie are Wonderland's "hot box" favorites at West Flagler.

Hockey has really taken a toe hold at the Coral Gables Coliseum. The Miami Clippers and the Havana clubs pack 'em in and the enthusiasm ranks with that at the Boston Garden.

"Soft Touch" Wilson, who has as many clients as he has winners, still carries that night club tan. Dave Helsman, Mort Mahoney's chief aide, would rather slop around in the surf at the beach than count mutual tickets. He manages to catch a sun bath with the flamingos at Hialeah before post time every day.

Better come on down and see things for yourself. Anyway . . . thanks for listen'.

GEORGE E. HUESTIS.

P. S. Down here S. P. means St. Petersburg, and please make it clear to Happy Rabinowitz.

Dempsey Lauds Neil On Receiving Award

NEW YORK, Jan. 19 (AP)—The story of a friendship that started in a Saratoga Springs fight camp 13 years ago was told anew in a Manhattan dining room when Jack Dempsey stood up and received the Eddie Neil medal, memorial to the Associated Press sports writer and war correspondent, Dempsey's dearest friend among the writers.

The award was for Dempsey, symbol of his work as the man who had done most for boxing in 1938.

James J. Walker, mayor of New York in the gay days when Dempsey was young and heavyweight champion of the world, was there. Dempsey, speaking in the high, this voice that never fails to surprise, talked of Neil as he first met him in 1926 when he was preparing for his first match with Gene Tunney.

"I liked him right off," said Jack. "We were pals from then on. You fellows have done me a great honor. This is a very happy moment."

"I am happy and proud to receive the medal—but I am happier that it perpetuates the memory of my good pal, Eddie Neil."

"He was one of the squarest men I ever knew," Dempsey continued. "I owe a lot to newspapermen; they've always been my friends. Of them all, I loved and admired Eddie Neil the most."

Jimmy Walker said, "I knew him, but I know him better now. I have never heard so many fine things said of any man. The speeches have been real tribute."

Alan Gould, former sports editor of the Associated Press and present assistant to the general manager, pointed out, "It is fitting that this award go to Jack Dempsey. There was no essential difference between the two, Dempsey and Neil. Both were hard fighters, hard losers and straight shooters."

TWENTY YEARS LATER. The last time Jack Dempsey and Jess Willard squared off was in Toledo, O., July 4, 1919. Dempsey dethroned Willard. This time they're only having some fun as they square off again at Miami Beach, Fla.,
